Some Men Are Always Borrowing

although they sometimes have larger incomes than the men from whom they borrow.

The confirmed borrower is a self-convicted failure, a grumbling and unreliable person who usually reaches old age dependent on others or still working, struggling and borrowing for a living—and finally dies under a load of debt.

On the other hand, the lender is the man who spends his money freely but with care, who saves something each pay day and goes through life happy and contented, with money always at his disposal to grasp each opportunity. He saves before he spends and thus embraces prosperity for himself and his family.

RAFTERS OF THE UNION WILL RING

Rooters Will Meet Again To-day

IN BALLROOM

Scheduled to Gather at Five O'Clock P.M.

The Rooters are to meet again this afternoon in the Union at five o'clock. The Queen's game, the first Senior Intercollegiate contest of the season to be held in Montreal, is billed for Saturday, while on the day preceding this will be held the Interfaculty track meet. Accordingly it behooves every student of McGill to become a rooter if he is not participating in the game, and it behooves every rooter to give serious thought and vociferous practice to the success of the rooters' organization.

This session the rooters are working under a co-ordinated executive and with adequate support by the student body should eclipse the records in previous years. But Tremaine and "Nuts" Nutting will be on hand to set the pace in cheering and the style in acquirement of husky voices. The new and old songs and yells that are to be tried out will be found on the back page of the present issue of the "Daily" so that with every man with the lines before him cannot fail to make a hearty response to the exhortations of the leaders. In addition the Rooters' Band will be present throughout to add zest to the proceedings and rhythm to the airs.

It is expected that the band will commence a few minutes before five o'clock in front of the Union in a endeavor to draw a crowd for the practice. Now that "rushing" is a thing of the past freshmen should not be too retiring to fail to take advantage of this opportunity offered them of becoming conversant with the tunes of "Old McGill" but should turn out, as it is anticipated they will, and form the nucleus of the club.

MISS CARTWRIGHT SPOKE TO R.V.C.A.

R.V.C. Sports Will be Held October 28th

The R.V.C.A.A. held its first meeting of the session in the R.V.C. common room yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Miss Cartwright, the honorary advisor of the association, spoke a few words on the place of athletics and other activities in college life. She said that students who never entered into any society which necessitated responsibility got only the minimum of benefits which college life affords and that they missed those opportunities requisite for the training of good citizenship. Miss Cartwright imparted her good wishes to the association and hoped they would have every success for the coming year.

The treasurer then read her report for the year and it met the satisfaction of all present.

It was announced that the R.V.C. sports would be held on October 28 and a committee, composed of Miss Cartwright, Miss M. Pick, and Miss Z. Slack, was appointed to be in charge of the events for that day. It was decided also that tea would not be served after the sports.

The president then informed the meeting that the Students' Council offered a bronze statue as a trophy for intercollegiate basketball.

The election of officers for the various branches of athletics resulted as follows: Asst. tennis manager, Carol Robertson; asst. sports manager, Emmy Lou Hersberg; asst. basketball manager, Eileen Russell; asst. hockey manager, Rhoda Grant; and first year representative, Frances Stocking. Two cheer leaders were elected, these being Alice Roy and Zerada Slack.

The last proceedings of the meeting were the reading of the Constitution of the R.V.C.A.A. and that of the Montreal Ladies' Hockey League.

THE SOLITARY OYSTER.

There lived a solitary oyster
Beneath the ocean's green expanse,
The sea than him was not much
moister;
A shell his beauty did enhance.
He lived a happy life and carefree,
And worried not about exams.
But none the less he was no rarity;
So also live the placid clams.
A life like that to me's appealing.
His home was his! no rent to pay.
He had no brains, no thoughts, no
feeling,
But ate and slept the livelong day.

KIND SOPHS ENTERTAIN AT SUPPER

Freshmen Guests at Impromptu Affair

COLOURFUL EVENT

Representative Gathering
Learns Secrets of Beauty Parlour

Staging an eleventh hour attack which, by the way, to be exact was in the vicinity of four o'clock—the Sophomores rushed the Freshmen and made adequate use of their last day of grace to demonstrate to the first year cherubs the countless advantages of a higher education and the economic theory of organization.

The Freshies have learned much within the last few hours—something which should benefit them for the rest of their state of being. One thing—and this is important—is that Sophomores are not to be trifled with. The Freshmen realize—and if they don't they should—that trying to put anything over their elders is about as hard as making a rattlesnake do the goose step. And another important thing is that the second year heroes love those darling angels about as much as the Barmen's Union of the United States loves Mr. Volstead. This is all theory. What follows is the application of this theory.

When after classes the first year men found a smiling delegation of dignified young men waiting for them, they thought they were going to be invited to a party. Not only were they invited, but as they soon found out they were in addition the life of the party, and a pretty large party at that.

Crestfallen—and also crustfallen—they were joined—almost as tight as with a marriage knot—and the procession—the word bridal almost slipped in—round the Campus began. Someone, who thought it was a circus, could not understand why such tame creatures should be tied. Another one—and this was the most unkind cut of all—as the parade parked outside of the Redpath Museum—wanted to know where the ancient relics and queer specimens were being taken to.

Scene two of the drama took place with the proper—and now famous—stage settings. Behind the Molson Stadium the guests were made to feel how thankful they should be that they do not belong to that tribe of warriors that decorated their faces every day. They were given a lesson in "How to be economical"—at any rate, as far as the matter of haircuts is concerned, and the back of the head was chosen as the place for the example to be made of how closely one should have his locks trimmed. As one big, hulking Freshman was being treated, a rather small Soph was heard to mumble in his ear, "Cut me out, eh! not for a month, anyhow!"

But Sophomores aren't such cruel brutes after all, and realizing that children must eat, served their proteges with coffee, and a sandwich, and incidentally, charged them such prices that would make eating at the Ritz feel as cheap as a rookie in the company of generals.

TWENTY-FIVE HUNDRED ARE REGISTERED

Decrease of Ninety From Last Year

RETURNS NOT FINAL

Music, Arts, Dentistry and Physical Eds., Show Increase

The revised registration figures given to the "Daily" late last night show, at present, a decrease of about ninety under that of last year. The faculties of Arts and Music and Dentistry show increases, while Pharmacy's numbers remain at forty-two.

Music shows the biggest increase, nearly doubling its registration. This year there are 173 registered, of which 152 are partials, as compared with 96 of last year. The Department of Social Service where, however, registration is not complete, shows the biggest comparative decrease; only 12 have registered so far as compared to 28 of last year.

A decrease in registration is being experienced by practically every university and is undoubtedly a result of the universal business depression and owing partly to the fact that there are no returned men entering the Freshmen years. The size of the third and fourth years in all the faculties is due to the large percentage of war veterans.

At Queen's University there are 1,134 registered as against 1,156 last year—a decrease of 22. The registration is divided as follows: Arts, 576; Science, 303; Medicine, 255.

Medicine has a Freshman class of 91 while last year's class was limited and had 115 men and 12 women. This year one year in Arts is necessary before entering Medicine and this accounts, to some degree, for the smaller number.

The total for Science and Architecture this year is 593 as compared with 663 (Continued on Page 3.)

DR. SLATER SPOKE TO PRESBYTERIANS

Gave Address on "The Enterprise of Preaching"

A large audience gathered at the Presbyterian College last evening to hear the address given by Dr. Slater of Edinburgh. The meeting was presided over by Dr. Rexford, Dean of the Co-operative Theological Colleges. A portion of Scripture was read by Dr. Warriner of the Congregational College, who also offered prayer.

Dr. Rexford then called upon Dr. Fraser, principal of the Presbyterian College, to introduce the speaker of the evening. Dr. Fraser in a few well-directed remarks mentioned the various fields in which Dr. Slater had gained distinction. He spoke of him as a preacher, author, and as head of the department of religious exercises in the British Y.M.C.A. during the great war.

Dr. Slater was then called upon and delivered a most interesting address upon "The Enterprise of Preaching." The purport of the address was chiefly directed toward students of Theology. He emphasized the fact that unless a student believed firmly in preaching, and was willing to throw his whole heart and soul into it, there was no use for him to enter the ministry. He pointed out that there were two aims in preaching. First, the glorification of God, and second, the betterment of man.

He then went on to discuss the various kinds of preparations necessary for one who is in the ministry to make. He mentioned the direct method of preparation, i.e., the choosing of a text, and the writing of a sermon, but laid more special stress on the indirect preparation. He spoke particularly of extensive reading of good literature as one of the best means of preparation.

Many other interesting points were also brought forward by Dr. Slater in the course of his address, among them being, the preference of speaking without notes, and the development of speech as a necessary qualification to a preacher. Also he touched on the desirability of originality. "Use other men's ideas," he said, but do not use other men's language exactly as they themselves used it.

After the conclusion of Dr. Slater's address, Dr. Rose of the Wesleyan College proposed a vote of thanks to him which was rendered by Dr. Rexford.

COMMERCE HOLDS FOOTBALL WORKOUT

Upper-classmen Again Fail to Make Appearance

With but one exception, the handful of men that turned out for the Commerce football practice was composed entirely of Freshmen. Jack Emo, who was playing outside wing on the Senior team until he hurt his shoulder in a practice game between the First and Second Teams, is coaching the team. Emo lined up the candidates, who numbered fourteen, and ran them through a signal drill for about an hour, the men responding in a snappy manner.

The team is fast, but is by far too light to be able to withstand the attacks of the other teams, which have a decided advantage in weight, if one is to judge by the Scient team which was having its workout close by. What the squad lacks now is more big men—and there are plenty of that type in the upper years. There are also several players from last year's team who have not yet made an appearance, and they should be reminded that the first game takes place on the 17th of this month, which allows only a week in which to prepare for the opening contest.

MONTREAL, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1922.

SPORTS DAY.

Sports Day at McGill is scheduled to take place next Friday. The date will be chosen the team that is to represent our college in the Intercollegiate Meet on the twentieth of the month. In previous years Sports Day has been a gala occasion for the entire university, a welcome break in the first two weeks of lectures, as well as a day of moment for those attempting to gain a position on the Team. This session, it appears, things are to be changed; for candidates, next Friday remains the day of trial; for the rest of McGill, apparently, it will be similar to any other day of lectures. We are not familiar with the reasons which prompted the action to annul the holiday formerly granted the students on the day of the Inter-faculty Meet, nor do we presume to criticize their motives in the matter. The fact that the Intercollegiate Meet is to be held in Montreal this autumn undoubtedly influenced their decision, the temporary suspension of academic work on that occasion being necessary and rendering a holiday for the college meet illogical. However, it appears to be the consensus of opinion on the Campus that every means possible ought to be taken to create interest in track activities, and to encourage those participating in them by an attendance representative of the students on Sports Day; and that, as this can only be achieved by the cancellation of lectures for that afternoon, an interval ought to be given the undergraduates in which they might be present at the Inter-faculty Meet, and a similar respite in the Intercollegiate Meet, should bring about no undue loss of time, as both these periods would be only equivalent to the usual day of freedom given on Sports Day.

THE SOPHOMORE'S DUTIES.

The "rushing" of freshmen, which varies only in character and intensity each year, seems to have become so firmly rooted a tradition at McGill that it were futile to question its merits or efficacy. It has reached the stage where Sophomore classes feel it a duty to bring the members of the incoming class to as low a state of humility as possible. This may or may not be of great value to the university; but suffice it to say that it exists.

A point to be questioned, however, is whether the duty of the Sophomore to the Freshman should stop there. Should the second year man feel that his responsibility has been discharged when he has successfully placed the "fresh" in his lowly place? No doubt in doing so he has performed a valuable service to his Alma Mater; but he should perform far greater service yet.

Old graduates of this institution like to refer proudly to "that old McGill spirit". There can be no doubt that they have experienced and still manifest it. But is the same spirit still found here? Will the Undergraduate of to-day after graduation be able to feel and express the same sincere enthusiasm as the older alumnus? True the enormous growth of the student body within the last ten years makes it a vastly greater problem to produce a solid College spirit; but the thing is certainly not impossible. And the sophomore can do much in this regard.

The obligation incumbent upon the sophomore is apparent. Just as he now, feels it a duty to molest and humble the freshman so should the second year man feel it his duty to instill into the newcomer a feeling of loyalty and devotion to the University. He should explain to him that he must give his support to McGill's representatives in all their endeavours. He should point out to him that the co-operation of the whole student body is required in all college affairs. In short he must do all in his power, by word, and above all by example to make of the freshman a loyal son of McGill.

If Sophomore classes were to make this a traditional duty, the incoming classes each year would be infected with a McGill spirit which would lose none of its intensity throughout an entire course at college. There should then be no such pronounced feeling of apathy towards college affairs on the part of some of the students as on some occasions during the past few years.

This is what the sophomore can do for the college and the freshman. This is what the second year student should include in his duties. "Rushing" is one of his duties—so let it be. But let not another, of far greater importance be shirked. Sophomores must not fail to carry out all their responsibilities.

TENNIS SEMI-FINALS TO BE PLAYED TODAY

Though rainy weather on Saturday and Monday has been responsible for some delay in the playing off of the R.V.C. tennis tournament, it does not seem to have dampened at all the spirit of the players. The games have been strongly contested, and now are becoming very exciting, as only a small number of competitors still survive.

The following are the results of the second round which was over by Saturday night.

D. Hutchison vs. F. Perry, won by F. Perry, 12-3.

Z. Slack vs. F. Stocking, won by F. Stocking, 9-6.

K. Godwin vs. M. Leggett, won by M. Leggett, 10-5.

J. Affleck vs. L. Bingham, won by L. Bingham, 10-5.

L. Desharats vs. A. Roy, won by A. Roy, 10-5.

C. Robertson vs. F. Secord, won by A. Robertson, 11-4.

The next round must be played off by tonight.

He was a struggling Scottish farmer, and he had the good fortune to win the hand of a widow who possessed in her own right the sum of five thousand pounds.

Shortly before the wedding a friend went to congratulate him. "It's a fine thing for ye, this weddin', Sandy!" he said.

"Aye, it's no bad," replied the farmer.

"No bad? Why, it's worth five thousand pounds tae ye, isn't it?"

"No," sighed Sandy, "less than that. Ye see, 'twill cost me seventeen an' saxpence for a marriage licensel!"

NOTICES

Complaints have been reaching the Students Council that the rushing and threats to rush are interfering seriously with not only classes, but all college activities. For this reason, so that every undergraduate can settle down to his studies earnestly, and without fear of interruption, the Council have decided to declare that after Monday evening there shall be no more rushing. In the past rushing has always ended with the University sports, but since there is no holiday on that day, and it is impossible to hold one big rush and get it over, and since it is not fair to freshmen that they should have to give up their evenings from study, to start a year in an unsettled state is bad enough, even for men of upper years, but is much worse for freshmen. Therefore all sophomores are to take notice that no more rushing is to take place after Monday—and on Monday there must not be any disturbance to the freshmen which will in any way prevent them from attending their classes. Freshmen on the other hand, are required to wear their freshmen hats until Nov. 6th, or until such time the Council sees fit to cancel them.

Commenting on the rival claims of the University of McGill in Montreal, and of Mount Union College in Alliance, Ohio, relative to the origin and originators of basketball, the "Purdue Exponent" says:

"Rival claims as originators of basketball were put forth sometime ago by McGill University and Mount Union College."

"Mount Union points with pride to a tablet in their gymnasium with an inscription to the effect that the first basketball game was played there in 1892. The "Dynamo", student publication, says, We know of no college in the United States which can establish the claim that basketball was played previous to this date."

"From the McGill paper comes the claim that Dr. Naismith, graduate of that school, invented the game as a result of a deliberate attempt for weeks to evolve a game suitable for men to play indoors."

"It is said that he took Rugby as a basis, eliminating the features which make it extremely rough."

"The idea of baskets came from the old game of 'Duck on the Rock.' Dr. Naismith used peach baskets at either end of the gymnasium, placed them ten feet high and used the galleries for support."

"At first nine men were used. The number was reduced to seven and later to five, as the skill of the men developed."

It was the afternoon of the bag hush. They met on the way to the fray. He and She. She was a freshman co-ed. He was a rotund, dignified guardian of a chair of "plain living and high thinking."

"Hello," she said pleasantly. "Going to the bag rush?"

He said he was, so they walked along together. Conversation waxed friendly.

"Which class do you think will win?" she asked at length, and he, not knowing to what class she belonged, felt safe in replying "Our class!"

"Oh, so you're a freshman, too." Her enthusiasm was contagious. He found himself saying "Yes." It would be too bad to disappoint such a friendly person. And so they came to Dill field where they parted, but not before she had asked him to come and see her and he had accepted.

And they do say on the campus that the amiable pedagogue may be heard o' nights poring over the oration which is to mark the fateful "date."

STRIKING!

"Good-night!" she sighed; and yet once more,

"Good-night!" He cried: "Adieu! Adieu!"

The parlor clock struck one bofer

The lateness of the hour struck two.

SENIOR TEAM PUT THROUGH LIGHT DRILL

Squad Takes Things Easy
After Hard Game.

TRY NEW PLAYS

Philpotts Returns to Town in Improved Condition

The Senior football squad was put through a long but light drill by Coach Shaughnessy, at the Stadium yesterday afternoon. The players with the exception of Philpotts, came out of Saturday's battle with Varsity in fairly good shape, but Shag decided to let the mob ease after the strenuous week-end. Philpotts returned from Toronto yesterday and his condition is reported to be much improved. The injury is not as serious as was at first thought unless internal complications set in. It is not known yet whether the injury has affected his kidney; if not Philpotts will be back in the game within a week. He is now under observation in the Royal Victoria Hospital. Charlie Robertson, one of the regular outside wings stayed out to rest up his leg which he injured slightly in the Varsity game. Captain "Doug" Ambridge took a holiday and Foss, Gamble and Eason also rested up.

The rest of the squad, augmented by the appearance of several Western men practiced on until about three quarters of an hour after sundown. Shag being compelled to call out the "white enameled pigskin" in order to play on in the dark. The McGill mentor drilled the men on several new plays which will probably be used by the Red and White when McGill meets Queens in the Stadium on Saturday.

Shag tried Manson, the basketball star, at one of the wing positions and the lengthy basketballer seemed to adopt himself well to the position. Baker another Westerner was tried out in the backfield and showed good form, while Fife and Dyer the two other newcomers show that they are to be considered for places on the team. Shag may make several changes in his line up for the Queens game, and this week's workouts will mean a lot.

The McGill-Queens game is attracting a great deal of attention among football fans and a big crowd is expected to witness the fray. The Presbyterians, this year, boast of the strongest team in the history of the institution. They have a collection of stars who's fame is Dominion wide and they are picked as the favorites to win their opening game. But McGill has not been defeated on the home grounds since 1911 and the team will make a game fight to keep clear the 11 year record. A large advance sale of seats has been reported and given clear weather the Stadium should be filled to capacity.

B.W. & F. TO HOLD MEETING TODAY

Team Weakened by Loss of Shackell

This afternoon at 5 p.m. a general meeting of the Boxing, Wrestling, and Fencing Club will be held in the Music Room of the Union. New men are earnestly requested to attend the meeting. Plenty of opportunity is given to new men of becoming proficient in this sport by means of the inter-class and faculty boxing competitions held during the year.

The B. W. and F. will be seriously weakened through the loss of Shackell, last year's 135 lb. collegiate champion. Shackell was one of the mainstays of the team. Connor, the light heavyweight boxer, also, has not returned to college. With Brewer, Schleifer, Foss, and Abinovitch back again, this year's boxing club has a good nucleus about which to form a strong team. The wrestlers and fencers are expected to turn out a team capable of defeating either Varsity or Queens.

It is important that all those interested in the sport should be on hand this afternoon at the Union.

The executive wants every follower of the sport to turn up at the meeting.

And again must be mentioned that Sophomores are considerate, and knowing—the Meds, anyhow—that in order to avoid indigestion after a heavy meal, one should take a long walk. So they took their birds for a stretch, and gave many Montreal citizens—especially those who happened to be on St. Catherine street—a chance to see how comfortable the Kaiser would have felt walking in full uniform up Fifth avenue on Armistice Day.

This much was obtained. If you want to know more, ask the Freshmen.

CANDIDATES FOR TRACK IN SHAPE

Interfaculty Meet Next
Friday

MANY ENTRIES

Intercollegiate Meet Will Be Held on Twentieth

Aspirants for the University track team are putting in the final week of training previous to the Inter-faculty meet to be held Friday. Prospects are bright for a repetition of last year's performance when the McGill team retained possession of the silverware emblematic of Canadian Intercollegiate track supremacy. Coach Von Wagner is confident and his spirit has spread to the men who are working overtime to amass the greatest number of points a week from Friday.

In the sprint Dan Johnson and "Cicc" Hay are going fine and should have little difficulty in showing their heels to the field, whatever it may be. "Cicc" Hay is concentrating his efforts upon the hundred yards and two-twenty, while Dan Johnson is paying particular attention to the two-twenty and quarter mile. But that these events are not finally decided may be readily realized by anyone who sees the large number of entries for them and who views the large number preparing for them. Seven Freshmen are in very good form. Patterson, who won the Freshman-Sophomore sprint, being chief among them.

In the middle distances, the half and the mile, Legg and Hamilton are showing up well, while Alexander, in the eight-eighty, and Fry, in the mile, can be relied upon to give them a hard run all the way to the tape. The three mile is an uncertain quantity as yet. Wiggins is turning out daily and should give any of the old-timers, such as Hamilton and Legg, a hard battle. In this event, also, are to be considered Rubens and Lumsden, who ran such a close race on Saturday last.

Kennedy is a safe bet in the broad and high jumps, it being surmised that he has during practice broken the Intercollegiate records in both. Gaboury and Craik are developing greatly as pole vaulters and should put up a pretty contest on Friday. Consiglio is running the hurdles and his stride is much improved over last year. In the weight Foss and Kennedy are looked to to gain the honors.

NEWFOUNDLANDERS TO MEET TO-NIGHT

Prominent Newfoundland
Business Men to be Present

To-night the Newfoundland Club will hold its first meeting for this session in the Strathcona Hall, at 7.30 p.m.

The meeting will be a business one but some prominent Newfoundlanders on a visit to Montreal will be present.

Newfoundlanders of all years and faculties, and particularly the newcomers, are expected out this evening. All Freshmen should attend this opening meeting of the Club, as will afford them a good opportunity of meeting other Newfoundlanders.

The Newfoundland Club promises a very interesting meeting for its members to-night. The prospects of refreshments should also be an added incentive to attend. It is hoped that the same spirit of comradeship will prevail amongst the men this year as it did last year.

Considering the record of the club since its inauguration at McGill, there is not the slightest doubt that this evening's meeting will be a great success.

R.V.C. S.C.A. INVITES FRESHETTES TO TEA

From four to six this afternoon, in the common room of R.V.C., there will be an informal reception given by the Student Christian Association to the girls who are entering college. All women students of McGill are invited, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of this opportunity of meeting more of their fellow students.

Miss Helen Nichol, a recent graduate of our university, who has taken an active part in many college activities and who last month accepted the position of S.C.A. secretary for the women students of Toronto University, will attend this gathering and will speak briefly on the meaning and work of the Student Christian Movement. Miss Nichol is already well known to McGill girls in the upper years and they are anxious that through this afternoon's meeting many of the incoming students should come in contact with this popular student leader.

The teacher told an apparently stupid boy that when Mr. Lloyd George was the pupil's age he was the top of his school.

"That example cuts both ways," was the boy's ready reply. "When Mr. Lloyd George was your age he was Prime Minister."

HEALTH PLAYS BIG PART IN SUCCESS

Financial Expert Hands Out
Advice to Students

Charles E. Mitchell, President of the National City Bank of New York, largest of American financial institutions, and a director in many other large corporations is probably the youngest of distinguished American financiers, being 44 years old. He was born in Chelsea, Mass., and was graduated from Anherst. The following letter written to a Princeton Freshman is published with Mr. Mitchell's consent.

"I have just learned from your Dad that you are a Freshman in Princeton, and he has asked that a friendly eye be cast your way. It makes me feel as if I should grow a gray beard at once. Considering the fact that 26 years have passed since I was a college freshman and that added fact that I had gathered a family when I first saw you, a baby kicking wildly in a crib, it seems the appropriate thing for me to do!

"But instead of growing a gray beard, suppose I do what most tottering old men are prone to do—offer some sage advice? I shall, then, select one of their favorite themes and tell you what it seems to me that you should carry in your mind as the salient qualities in the competition of life, for which you are now spending four years in training.

Regular Exercise Necessary.

"The fundamental quality is health. No one is born with health that will continue unimpaired through the year. The physical body, the most delicate of all mechanisms, will stand a lot of wear and strain if, and only if, it is given reasonable attention. Some degree of sense must be shown in the kind of food and drink one puts into it, but provided it all be done with regularity and above all, moderation, the mechanism will take care of food, yes, and even of drink too, that goes a little way each side of the common adjective "plain."

"It won't stand the excessive in either case, and speaking of regularity, that's what you must practice in sleep. Don't believe the fellow who tells you he is keen after five hours sleep or after 12 hours sleep. Most of us require about eight, and then every night, if the next day is to find us truly "in the game." But most important is exercise. I don't mean spasmodic exercise—half a day twice a week or 45 holes of golf a day at the week-end and nothing during the week. That is what I call going on an exercise "bat"—again an excess that ordinarily does far more harm than good.

Honestly a Requisite.

"I mean regular daily exercise that is sufficiently strenuous and if done for sufficient time to make you feel it. It may at times be a bore but the reward is enormous. Get that body of yours built up now and make up your mind that you will never abuse it. You may possess all the qualities for success known to man but if they must operate through a deficient body, the handicap cannot be overcome.

"The next basic quality, I should say, is character. Honestly one must have, not only in his dealings with others, but above all with himself. You may at times be able to "put something over" with others but don't be such a fool as to fool yourself. You must always be your own most critical judge but your verdicts must be backed by honesty. Then you must be loyal to the best standards and you must develop courage to do and dare physically and mentally, remembering that conservation will save many a mistake. But character-building is a subject that suggests sermonizing and I leave the further exposition of the theme to those who will give you the regular drills in it through rod and tongue.

Improve Opportunities.

"Then there is the quality of personality. Some say that it is God-given, and often it is—but often too it is the result of the endeavor to cultivate it, based on an appreciation of the great part it plays in success. Ease of manner, graciousness, consideration for others, good fellowship in the best sense of the word, democracy, cultivation in speech and language, presence, carriage—these qualities and a dozen or more others, all perhaps weathervanes that are swung by winds of character, constitute personality. But many of them may be cultivated and where you find them lacking there is usually a flaw in character or in training. Personality is assuredly an attribute of success.

"But I presume ability, by which I mean knowledge and understanding, is the outstanding quality essential to gaining a high place in the competition of life. I have not mentioned it earlier, merely because the other qualities are the foundation on which this quality can effectively be reared. Ever since I packed my graduation sheep-skin in my suitcase and went into the cold world with a flat purse and the necessity (and incidentally ambition) to make something of myself, I have had a constantly growing regret that during a period of four years of my life, the time I was at college, I did not improve to the utmost my opportunities of picking up the varied knowledge lying like riches all about me.

Study Not an Education.

"It was, as I see it in retrospect, a time of comparative leisure; when I could easily have accomplished that which in the crowded hours of later life, I have, with pleasure to be sure, but with great handicap, accomplished. And the reason? Because in Freshman and Sophomore and part through Junior year, I did not bring myself to realize that the subjects which were given to me to study were practical in their application to life. I was not interested. But later, having become interested in one subject, my interest spread and before my exit from college I had begun to see something that hard experience has since shown me vividly; that almost every subject in the curriculum had a real application and that I had been blind to my opportunities.

"Do take advantage of the chance that is yours to study. But don't rely on study for education. Some of the wisest men I know have gained their ability through keeping their eyes open, observing all that passed about them and exercising the process of original thinking. And don't neglect the opportunities for discussion, for debate, and for writing, all of which clarify your thinking and sharpen your wits.

"Now there is much ability combined with personality and character that never succeeds and the reason usually is that there is absence of a further essential quality—industry backed by determination. Will your Tiger nine or eleven succeed without determination to succeed? Will your track men win unless they clench their jaws and grip their fingers in their palms? There must in every successful soul be developed an indomitable will to win. If there is laziness in you, eliminate it. Don't excuse yourself from work. Forget the clock. Drive yourself to industry.

"And so I conclude—health, character, personality, knowledge, industry—these are the essential qualities for success. Remember them all from Freshman year through University days and into the long years when with your training days passed, you will be up against the cold competition of the world. But remember this above all else—the other qualities are as sounding brass and tinkling cymbals except as you have that basic one of the qualities—health."

AN "IF" FOR GIRLS.

If you can dress to make yourself attractive,
Yet not make puffs and curls your chief delight;

If you can swim and row, be strong and active,
But of the gentler graces lose not sight;

If you can dance without a craze for dancing,
Play without giving play too strong a hold,

Enjoy the love of friends without romancing,
Care for the weak, the friendless, and the old;

If you can master French and Greek and Latin,
And not acquire, as well, a piggyish mien;

If you can feel the touch of silk and satin
Without despising calico and jean;

If you can ply a saw and use a hammer,
Can do a man's work when the need occurs,

Can sing when asked, without excuse or stammer,
Can rise above unfriendly snubs and slurs,

If you can make good bread as well as fudges,
Can sew with skill, and have an eye for dust;

If you can be a friend and hold no grudges,

A girl whom all will love because they must;
If sometimes you should meet and love another
And make a home with faith and peace enshrined,
And you its soul—a loyal wife and mother,
You'll work out pretty nearly, to my mind,
The plan that's been developed thru the ages,
And win the best that life can have in store;
You'll be, my girl, a model for the sages,
A woman whom the world will bow before.
—Elizabeth Lincoln Otis.

SHIFTLESS YOUTH.

Booth Tarkington, one of America's most brilliant novelists, has revealed the truth about his younger days. He confesses that up to his thirtieth year he had earned exactly $67.67 1-2 cents. The seven and a half cents was his share of the wage received for shoveling snow with another boy. "My first ambition," says Tarkington, "was to be an artist, not a financier—or even a writer." Which all tends to show that all geniuses were boy prodigies. Our mothers have always ever since they tucked our arms, gave our heads a pat, and started us off to school, such teachings may be a trick of the parents' to doubt they needed a way to our interests and stir our ambitions. It is plain to see, as we look back over our past, that our parents were sagacious. It would have been the rankest folly for them to have let us learn of, and revel over such stories as that about the youthful earning capacity of Booth Tarkington. Perhaps had we followed his example, some of us would not have turned out to be as capable as we are—and certainly not as great as he has.

CIRCULATION AT LIBRARY ON INCREASE

Annual Report of Redpath Library Submitted

GENERAL INCREASE

Many Valuable Gifts From Alumni and Friends of McGill

An increase of nearly forty-five per cent in the circulation of books from the Redpath Library is announced in the annual report of the library committee to Corporation, which was submitted to the library committee at its meeting yesterday, by Dr. G. R. Lomer, university librarian. Substantial increases are also reported in attendance at the library and in additions to the shelves, as well as in the routine work carried on by the staff such as cataloguing, accessioning, indexing, filing, and binding work. The quarterly report, submitted at the same time as the annual report, records increases in all departments of library activity except attendance. This latter report covers the months of June, July, and August.

Between September 1, 1921 and September 1, 1922, the University Library was open 273 days, 21 half-days, and 144 evenings, as compared with 272 days, 21 half-days, and 138 evenings last year. Total attendance this year amounted to 43,575, as compared to 40,472 last year, an increase of 3,103. Attendance is analysed as follows: readers, men, 24,793; readers, women 11,851; law library, 6,526; visitors, 405.

Circulation of books this year totalled 71,279, as against 49,723, last year, an increase of 21,556. Circulation is divided as follows: reading room, 18,004; outside, 36,940; law library, 5,221; University Book Club, 11,114. During 1921-22, 10,420 books were added to the library stock, as compared to 6,296 last year, an increase of 4,124. These figures make allowance for losses and exchanges, so that the actual contribution to the library last year totalled more than ten thousand. This number included 8,145 purchased and 2,467 received as gifts.

In addition to cataloguing and accessioning these volumes, the staff re-accessioned 22 old volumes, re-catalogued 519 old volumes, added 607 pamphlets, and listed 81 additional paper material. They also prepared and filed 24,955 index catalog cards, compared to 18,900 last year, an increase of 6,055. The library's binding handled 4,127 volumes, as against 2,700 last year, an increase of 1,427. Volumes bound numbered 3,225, and 243 last year, an increase of 1,884. Those repaired 902.

The travelling libraries also report a good year, there having been 448 purchases, 501 donations, and 372 books withdrawn. Libraries sent out numbered 129, renewals, 17, stereoscopes sent out, 54, lectures, 170. There are at present 8,621 volumes in the travelling libraries. Figures for the last quarter are: attendance 1,831; circulation, 9,188, an increase of 2,096 over the same period last year; cataloguing, 1,392, an increase of 781; catalogued but not yet accessioned, 182; cards filed, 2,125, an increase of 825; binding, 1,291, an increase of 678. In the travelling libraries, 24 books were added; 13 libraries were sent out; also 6 stereoscopes and 13 lantern lectures. Gifts during the last quarter included: 18 books from Dr. A. D. Blackader for the Blackader Library of Architecture; a George III document with seal attached from Mrs. A. Huntley Duff; a photograph silhouette of Sir William Dawson as a boy, from C. J. Fleet; 54 volumes of general literature, from Henry W. Garth; 89 volumes from Duncan McLennan; three volumes for the Blackader Library of Architecture, from Hon. J. S. McLennan; many books for the Blackader Library and the travelling libraries, from Dr. Francis McLennan; a copy of the medalion of Dr. Benjamin Sulte du Philippe Herbert, from Gerard Malchelosse; a number of volumes on theology from the library of the late Rev. James Roy, from Miss Roy; and a letter from Muxley to Dr. Martin of Johns Hopkins University, from Mrs. E. R. A. Taschereau, Ottawa. Cash donations included $150 from Dr. A. B. Blackader and $50 from F. Cleveland Morgan, as contributions towards the cost of printing the catalogue of the Blackader Library of Architecture.

RUGGER TEAM AT STIFF WORK-OUT

New Men Will Re-inforce Squad Shortly

The turn-out at the English Rugby practice on the Campus yesterday afternoon was somewhat depleted because of the Athletic Association meeting, and the final "hazing" attacks on the "frosh".

Rooters' Songs

HAIL, ALMA MATER.

Hail! Alma Mater, we sing to thee praise,
Great our affection; tho' feeble our lays;
Nestling so peaceful and calm 'neath the hill;
Fondly we love thee, our dear old McGill.

COME FILL YOUR GLASSES UP

Come fill your glasses up
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
Come drink a loving cup
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
We will drink the wine to-night,
Drink the wine that makes hearts light,

Come fill your glasses up
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
Come sing a joyous song,
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
Sing as we march along
To McGill, McGill, McGill,
We will rally on the field,
We will make our rivals yield,
Vict'ry shall crown the Shield
To McGill, McGill, McGill,

Tune: TAMMANY.

James McGill!
James McGill!
Peacefully he slumbers there,
Blissful though we're on a "tear."

James McGill!
James McGill!
He's our father; well, yes, rather,
James McGill!

Tune—PUT ON YOUR OLD GREY BONNET
Put on your Red and White Sweater,
For you'll have none better,
And will open up another keg of beer,
For its not for knowledge
That we came to college,

Aren't you ever coming back Queen?
No, never!
What, never?
No, never!!

Whizz-z
Bang
McG-I-L-L
What's the matter with old McGill?
She's alright. Oh, yes. You bet.

McGill
McGill
McGill
Rah! Rah* Rah!
Rah! Rah* Rah!
Rah! Rah* Rah!

Give them the axe, the axe,
the axe, the axe, etc.,
Where!
Right in the neck, the neck,
the neck, the neck, etc.
McGill.

Rifferty, rifferty, riff, raff,
Chifferty, chifferty, chiff chaff,
Let's give them a cat call—Meou.

You got to get that ball,
You got to get that ball,
You got to get that ball,
You got to get it.

I diddle I di
Give the dog a bone.
Hee Haw—Hee Haw
Haw, Haw.

There ain't no flies on us,
There ain't no flies on us,
There may be flies on some of you guys,
But there are no flies on us.

COAL BLACK MAMMY OF MINE

Oh we're going; yes we're Going, with a vim that's ever growing;
Till we Buck right over
their line
Let us cheer, let us cheer, and we'll get there never fear
For its just a matter of time.

If we fight, with our might,
we can put our foes to flight
And our sun will ever ever shine
So we're going yes were going, and the Best of stuff were showing
Till we Buck right over
their line.

STUMBLING.

Bucking up the field, Bucking up the field, Bucking up the field so easy
You can make 'em yield, you can make 'em yield, you can make 'em yield.
And if you want to kick,
Just pass the ball out quick,
And when you've done the trick,
Just turn to them,
And tell 'em
"That's the latest play, that's the latest play, that's the latest play,
It's no use.
We shall win to-day, we shall win to-day, we shall win to-day.

Don't stop to Cry, Boys.
Just say "good-bye" Boys,
"Cause you can never win the game, never win the game;
never win the game."
—E. Wallace Willard, Jr.,
Arts '23, and R. U. Fortune,
Arts '25.

Tune: GEORGETTE.

Poor Queens, Poor Queens,
We're sorry for you,
Poor Queens, Poor Queens,
But what can we do.
Our boys, our noise,
Show that we're the cream.
No matter, the chatter team
You know, 'tis so,

We'll lay it on thick,
Our play, to-day
Will make you feel sick.
Our cheers, poor dears,
Will land you in tears,
It means, such scenes,
Poor Queens.
—E. Wallace Willard, Jr.,
Arts '23.

WE HAVE A LITTLE TEAM.

Tune: I Had a Little Hen.
O we have a little team
And it is so very fine;
It's the best little team that has ever bucked the line.
We're ahead (or on, as the case may be) with the game
And we don't give a darn
But another little touch
wouldn't do us any harm.

REUBEN AND RACHEL.
Reuben, Reuben, I've been thinking (Girls)
Reuben, Reuben, I've been thinking (Boys)

What a dead world this would be
If instead of our McGill boys
If instead of R.V.C. girls
We had those of Varsity.

COME ON AND CHEER.

Tune: "Madelon"
Come on and cheer and shout
for Old McGill.
Come out and yell, and do it with a will.
You can do your part to win
the game
If you'll come out and cheer with all your might and main.
Come on and sing, you boys
with leather lungs,
And let's all yell until the campus hums.
Since we're out to win the game, WE WILL!
Come on and cheer, and shout, and yell for Old
McGill.

HAIL, HAIL, THE TEAM'S ALL HERE.

Tune: Who Wants to Know.
Hail, hail the team's all here
Are we going to win? Yes!
Poor old Queens cave in?
Yes!
Yea, bo! the team's all here,
So what the hell do we care
now!

A.A. MEETING DEALS WITH MANY TOPICS

MacDonald May Enter a Junior Team in New League

FRESHMAN RULE

The Freshman Rule, the English Rugby team's games with Varsity, and the likelihood of MacDonald College and a McGill Junior team entering the newly formed Inter-collegiate Junior Rugby Union, were questions discussed at the Athletic Association's meeting yesterday. A decision, that all students who failed to turn in their eligibility forms in time should be compelled to pay the C. I. R. F. U's fine of five dollars, was also reached. Last year the Association went on record as favouring the Freshman Rule, barring all freshmen from inter-collegiate sport, but at that time it was thought to be inopportune. At yesterday's meeting the question was brought up again and it is very likely that the McGill representatives will urge that this rule be adopted by the C.I.A.U.

Last year the English rugby team had a deficit of $743.53; their revenue being only $122.57, which was half of the proceeds of a double-header shared with the Intermediate Canadian rugby team. The Association this year will not be able to stand a deficit of this size but it is probable that the rugger men will be able to cut down expenses and help finance their trip to Toronto. If this is the case, it is very likely that the Association will give them a grant. For each eligibility form which is not in on time at the C.I.A.U. there is a fine of five dollars. These forms must be signed by a professor—not an associate professor or demonstrator—and handed in on days before the contest. Recently a senior football man neglected to turn in his form on time with the results that a fine of five dollars imposed by the C.I.A.U. In this case the fine will be paid by the Association but in future, students will be called upon to pay it themselves.

Dr. Lamb and Prof. Brown brought up the question of MacDonald College entering a junior team in the newly formed Intercollegiate Junior Rugby League. If they enter a team in this league it means that they forfeit all right to participate in any senior branch of sport with McGill. In former years the "Mac" men have figured on track teams and in the B. W. and F., and if they are granted membership in the Junior Union all such association with McGill will be severed. Dr. Lamb will get into touch with MacDonald to-morrow and explain the position to them and a definite decision will very likely be reached as to whether or not they will play a team. Providing that the Junior McGill team makes application to play in this league, permission will be granted by the Association. Before the meeting adjourned it was moved by Brewer that the Association send a message of condolence and sympathy to Mrs. Arless, the widow of the late Mr. Allan Arless who met his death in the M.A.A.A.-Argo game on Saturday.
